

Print & Finishing Solutions expands to Colorado and Wyoming

New expansion provides platform for growth to deliver world-class services to CO & WY

Denver, CO, May 11, 2018- Print and Finishing Solutions (PFS), the largest, independent commercial printing equipment provider in the western US, today announced that it is planning to expand into Colorado and Wyoming to service commercial printers, binderies and the graphic arts industries, in these attractive, high growth markets. With this new expansion, PFS is pleased to announce and welcome Nathan Ramsey as the Account Manager for the CO & WY territories. Nathan joins PFS from the former UGE Print & Finish Solutions located in Denver, CO.

"The decision to expand our presence into Colorado and Wyoming was a logical step in our business growth strategy," said Christian Stauss, newly appointed CEO of PFS. "Colorado, in particular, Metro Denver's regional economy is strong and robust. Last year, the Metro Denver region showed its 8th consecutive year of expansion providing new business opportunities for the city. This strong underlying growth allows us to capitalize and leverage our strengths to deliver world-class machinery and technical support to commercial print shops, in-plants, universities and churches in the area. We are excited to have a presence in this incredibly attractive market."

"We are also thrilled to have Nathan be a part of the PFS team. As a native of CO, Nathan will help us to fill a void in the marketplace," states Stauss. "In the next few months, we will be looking for ways for Nathan to best support the needs of the local client base. Nathan's experience with UGE will allow him to seamlessly transition PFS into the Colorado and Wyoming markets."

Having successfully expanded into Arizona five years ago, PFS is confident about its ability to build the proper foundation and support that our clients demand. "The goal of our company is to be your business partner in print and finishing solutions," concludes Stauss. "We know that our success is measured only by our clients' success."
